

SURGEON CHRONICLES

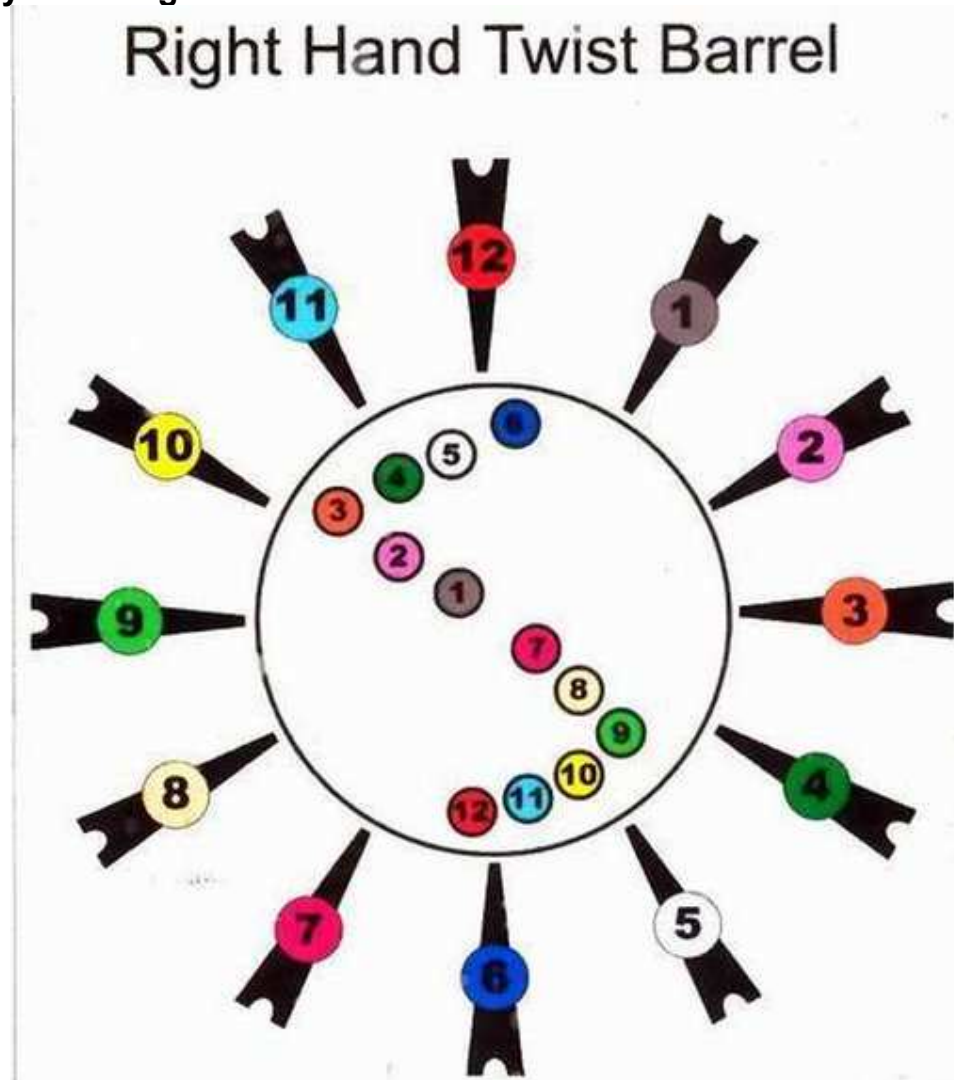

2006

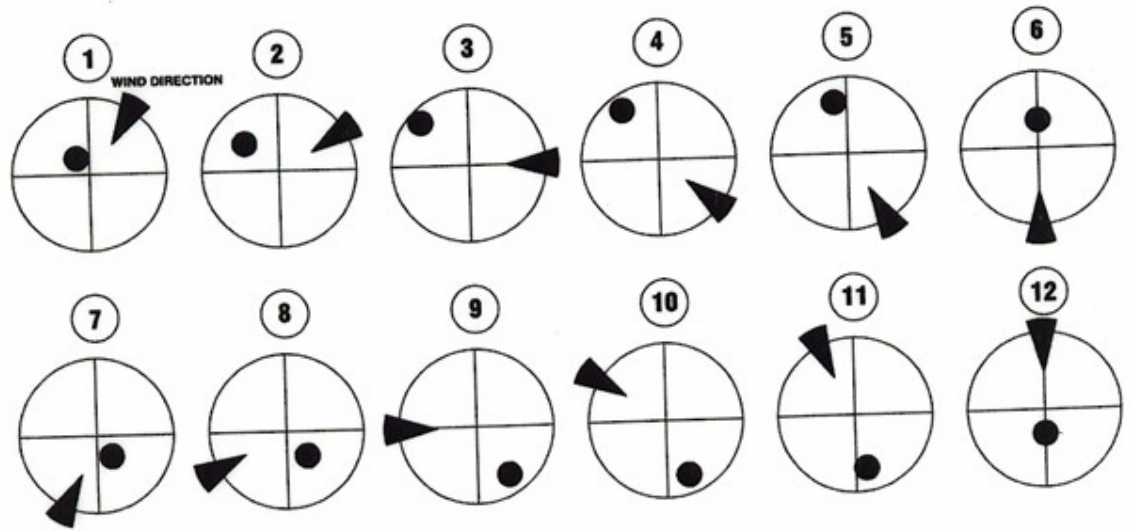

Well another year of wasting projectiles is upon us ,so I think maybe we should try to understand something about wind effect upon the bullets journey to the target ..

Listed below are two downloaded pictures of how others have calibrated wind scales , I would like to know if they are correct !

So if you print these out and use them one at a time then put your thought on the notice board so we can all learn

Regards

The Surgeon